Glee Club Pitt. Bound

Schedule Concert With Mt. Mercy

The Loyola College Glee Club will travel to Pittsburgh over the weekend and give a combined concert with the Mount Mercy College Glee Club. This trip will conclude the Club's activities for the first semester.

Mt. Mercy is under the direction of Mr. John Lively, who will divide the chores of director with Miss Virginia Reinecke, the director of Loyola's Club. Mr. Lively also works with the Pittsburgh Concert Choir and the Choir of Pittsburgh's Third Presbyterian Church.

Selections to be presented include "Lo, How a Rose Ere Blooming", "Angels We Have Heard on High" and "While by my Sheep". The Clubs will combine to sing the "Fantasia" of Vaughn Williams and Vivaldi's "Gloria".

Heavy Schedule

The Club has just successfully completed a full schedule of winter appearances. Included were visits to four local hospitals to give a program of carols, the Christmas concert and the Christmas Eve Midnight Mass, and a program at the Deutsches Haus restaurant for the benefit of the American Association of Military Engineers.

After the exams, the club will begin practicing for the Spring Concert, scheduled for April 30. Miss Reincke says she is well pleased with the work of the Club thus far and will strive to give finer performances in the future.

Glee Club Prexy Jerry Hamilton talks with Mt. Mercy Pres.

"Land of Pleasant Living" reaches Loyola in new Student Lounge.

Short Takes

Examinations

This year semester exams at Loyola will begin on Friday, January 15, instead of Monday, January 18. This new six-day schedule enables students to have only one exam per day.

Debating

Tom Dwyer, Tom Curtis, Bob Goldsmith, and John Baynes will debate in a tournament with other eastern schools tomorrow at Morgan State. The Loyola team is also scheduled for a debate on January 13, at the invitation of Sts. Philip and James Holy Name Society.

Seniors

This Sunday at 6:30 p.m. on WBAL-TV, Loyola seniors Pat Cullen, Joe O'Hara, Tom Dwyer, and Mike Plott will appear on the program, "To Promote Good Will".

High Schools Visit

Loyola High School seniors visited the Evergreen campus on Wednesday of this week to get acquainted with college life. Mt. St. Joe seniors are guests of the College today.

College History

Fr. Atlee Devereux, S.J., is compiling a history of Loyola College. He would appreciate any pictures or information which would aid his research.

Prohibition Daze Thrown In Gym On Sat., Jan. 23

Saturday, January 23, the day after exams is the date for the third annual Prohibition Daze Dance held by the senior class. All students are welcome to the affair which will last from 9 until 1 in the Evergreen Gym.

Atmosphere of the 1920's will be prevalent with the decorations copied from speak-easies, and period costumes welcome but not mandatory.

Chester Kellam's orchestra will furnish the music. Tickets are available from Joe Bossle, Joe O'Hara, Mike Oles and Rick Pyle at $3.50 per couple. Information about table reservations will be posted.

As a special feature of the dance there will be a barber-shop quartet performing in keeping with the speak-easy, 1920 theme.

Faculty News

Some of the faculty members travelled to distant cities during the Christmas holidays. Mr. Colimore and Fr. Lavin went to Chicago to the MLA; Mr. O'Brien attended the American Economic Association convention in Washington; and Dr. Kirwin gave the Presidential Address at the American Catholic Historical convention in Chicago.

Mixer Scheduled Tonight In Cafe; Dedication Jan. 31

Amid shouts of glee the student body invaded the sparkling marble halls of the Student Union Building last Monday. Although there had been prior invasions of students moving activity furniture, an alumni and associates meeting, and a mixer for Glee Club visitors from Pittsburgh, to most the visit was a pleasant surprise and at least pleasant for all.

Making hay while the shine lasts, the school is sponsoring a mixer there this evening after the basketball game until 12:15. Music will be by stereo tape. Off-campus males are welcome if they are escorted. Admission will be 50c per person. Any student organization can sponsor future affairs as money-makers.

Dedication

Religious dedication ceremonies will be held January 31 at 3:30 P.M. His Excellency the Archbishop Francis Keough will preside at the cornerstone laying and blessing of the building. A solemn Benediction will follow in the Gymnasium.

In answer to the frequent question, that large space in the basement is for lockers. There has been a delay in delivery.

In the northeast corner of the basement are the offices of the school publications, and debating. On the mezzanine are the Dean of Men's office, Student Council, Radio Club, Sodality, Music Room and Green and Grey.

Yet To Come

Baltimore's famous spring weather will display another feature of the new building, air-conditioning.

The rifle range which occupies the entire south end of the basement is acquiring bullet scars although all accessories are not installed.

There are pay telephones on the second floor as well as in the basement facilitating the student's unions. Also in the basement are locker and dining rooms for the maintenance staff.

Freshmen are warned that the elevator is mainly for freight and seniors are not qualified to sell elevator passes.

Editorials

Dream Come True

To have the new Student Union Building become a reality is a dream come true. Who would believe that the space at the east end of the gym, the former rifle range and junior parking lot, could evolve into such a magnificent structure. The faculty and administration are thrilled with the results and they hope that the student body will realize how important the building is to the school.

The Student Union Building is for the students and as such we must take care of it. The cafeteria and lounge are equipped with beautiful and expensive furniture, furniture which we hope will last years and years. It is up to the students to see that this furniture is kept in the best possible condition.

The appearance of the building is one which Loyola students should always keep in mind. A dirty building will give visitors a poor idea of Loyola students. Don't leave a mess around. Put the trash into trashcans. Replace the empty coke bottles into the provided racks. Xavier Lounge and the old cafeteria were kept in fair shape by the students. With a little more effort on our part we could have kept those two rooms looking much better.

A lot of money and time has been spent in constructing the building and we don't want the value to depreciate in only a few years. This could happen if the students don't do justice to the building. We have all waited a long time for the completion, so let's do a job and keep the New Student Union looking great at all times.

Coats And Ties

One of the topics which came up at the Baltimore Intercollegiate Committee Conference at Notre Dame College a few weeks ago was the problem of conformity. The problem seemed to be one of how to get the students to keep or to conform to the rules set down by the school administration. Here at Loyola we have rules to which the students must conform. One which seems to be giving the Dean of Men a going over is the wearing of a coat and tie while on campus.

There are a number of reasons why the administration has this rule. One of the main reasons is that people are judged by their outward appearance. A sloppily dressed individual gives the impression that his work will be sloppily done. Loyola is a day school, and traveling back and forth, the students are always in the public eye. Their appearance, therefore, should always be neat.

There is a certain dignity connected with the fact that Loyola is a Jesuit school. Other people expect neatness of the students. A coat and tie is definitely a mark of respectability, and it most certainly brings up the appearance of the school. Remember, rules are adopted by the administration because it believes that, if kept, these rules will help Loyola students build themselves into mature, responsible men.

Sammy Diske, Reporter On State Pen Football

Being as how we have a new correspondent by name of Sammy Diske and being as how he seems to be a very ambitious character in regard to a new column, I naturally thought it would be wise to sort of break him in with a trip to the Maryland version of the "Big House", where some of our very hot footballers were due to tangle with some of the local hot-shots.

Since Sammy is a casual sort of a fellow and doesn't like to rush into anything, we were naturally late. Due to some sort of worry on the part of the warden, we had to wait for an escort. Personally, I liked the idea since the odds were against us and some of those fellows looked right nasty. Sammy didn't seem to mind though and as a matter of fact looked quite at home, even stopping to chit-chat with a few of the friendlier types.

I could describe the field but let's hear it in Sammy's own words. "Well," said Sammy, "It is a little better than some of the streets we've played in. Of course the churned up ground, bits of glass, and short length (48 yards) did kinda make it more sporty and challenging. We were a little concerned over what we thought were signs of disfigurement on the faces of our opponents until we noticed two additional features, a brick wall on one end and a high screen on the other. It seems that this also held the attention of the five hundred prisoners watching as there is something fascinating about the way a two hundred pound end crashes gaily under a full head of steam into a brick wall.

However the team quickly stepped out and led the inmates

7 to 6. After what seemed like hours, and with Loyola ahead 19 to 12, Sammy turned to one of the timers and asked how much time was left. "Bout 4 minuts" was the answer. "In the game"? asked Sammy. "Naw, in the first quarter". Although we figured we played six hours, the timer swore that we only played four 12 minute quarters.

When the debris cleared it was found that the Hounds triumphed by a score of 38-36. Although some of us expected some bad feeling, the opponents were very happy to have had the chance to play and even asked us to return. The only thing which could be considered a rough spot was when Sammy kept pestering the timer. "Hey, how much time, huh, how much time, com'on how much time, huh"? Finally the timer could stand it no longer and turning to Sammy, he said, "Aw shut up, I got 23 years left". This seemed to kinda dampen Sammy's curiosity.

Some of the more outstanding players were Ray Short, a terrific passer, and his able receivers Pete Twardowicz, Pat Cullen, and Pete Powley. The defensive work of Lou Lomp, John Healy, and Seeley Powley in the backfield and Joe Curran, Larry Sturm, Brad McNally and Nick Jackson on the line provided some thrilling moments. On the offensive, blocking was provided by Leo Kossa, Charlie Carey, and Paddy Hannon. Last but not least we must not forget the tremendous coaching job done by Nappy and his brilliant co-coach "the mole".

After a delicious meal and some wonderful hospitality we finally convinced Sammy that he could not stay, and with warm handshakes all around, we departed.

the Watchdog

The big news this week is of course, the new Student Union Building. Many new features have been added, such as an intercom that enables the Dean of Men to reach anyone in the building without the need for notes. This also affords the student body the opportunity of listening to soothing music while eating lunch. Of course some people find it rather difficult to eat while standing up as necessitated by the playing of the Star Spangled Banner.

It is rumored that Dick Prodey and Ken Gray may run for president of the student council. It will be interesting to learn which way Mr. Healy's political machine will turn.

By the way, what happened to the tremendous school spirit that was in evidence at the beginning of the holidays? Maybe the "Bird" and the "Bear" would have some suggestions along these lines for the future.

The holiday cheer exhibited by the Loyola students at the Western Maryland game so overwhelmed our opponents that they were driven to empty out the local fraternity and sorority houses in a vain attempt to even the odds.

We have heard that the Sodality plans a dance after the Johns Hopkins game next Friday. Since this is a comparatively new venture, we wish them good luck.

Dr. William Thaler, '47, Guest Speaker Last Wed.

Former tennis star and golfer Bill Thaler, class of '47, was a guest lecturer in Cohn Hall last Wednesday. He is better known today as Dr. William J. Thaler, chief of the Field Projects Branch of the Earth Sciences Division, Office of Naval Operations.

Another in the Gorman lecture series, the talk was on the effects of nuclear weapons and in particular on the Projects Argus and Teepee.

Dr. Thaler as he looked in 1947.

Own Work

Project Teepee (Teepee which is the initials of "Thaler's Project") is based on Dr. Thaler's own idea and is the basis of detecting distant atomic explosions and rocket launchings.

In September of 1958 he was project officer for project Argus once described as the "greatest scientific experiment of all time." By detonating three atomic bombs more than 300 miles above the earth, a curtain of atomic radiation was made around the world. The Navy gained important knowledge about missile defense from this project.

Dr. Thaler graduated from Loyola in 1947 with a degree in physics. He earned both his master's and doctor's degrees from the Catholic University of America.

Honorary Society Initiates Members

Loyola's Rho Chapter of Lambda Iota Tau will initiate two new members during the coming week. Both candidates are English majors in the Evening School.

Zelma Martin will give her initiation paper on the works of F. Scott Fitzgerald. The other paper on the rhythms in Keats' odes will be given by William Laukaitis.

Requirements

Since LIT is an honorary fraternity, membership is by invitation only. The meetings, however, are open to all interested in literary criticism.

Membership requirements are an outstanding record in language courses and an original paper on some author or one of his works.

GREYHOUND SPORTS

By ROL STURM

Ass't Sports Editor

Tempers flared and fists flew in Loyola's basketball encounter with B.U. last Saturday. To many spectators this indicated poor sportsmanship from both sides and especially Loyola's since the game was played on their home floor.

All the blame for these out-breaks cannot be attributed to the players for had the referees done their job more efficiently the cause of the hot tempers would have been avoided.

The refs ignored the obvious and more aggressive fouls, but called many petty and incidental ones. This caused the players to become careless and over aggressive.

In saying this, I am not making excuses for the Hounds loss, but only pointing out how a potentially good game can be hurt by loose officiating.

The attendance and enthusiasm shown by the student body at the away games with Western Maryland and Towson was outstanding. At Western Maryland the Hounds were trailing at half-time, but sparked by the enthusiasm and cheering of the students Loyola rallied for 63 points in the second half to win easily 98-80.

At both Western Maryland and Towson the Hound rooters outnumbered those of their opponents. Western Maryland was even forced to conduct an impromptu drive on campus, in order to be able to compete with Loyola's rooters.

Swimmers Host G.C.; Powleys Lead Scorers

The Loyola College swimming team encounters another tough non-conference foe when the Hounds host Gettysburg College at 2:30 p.m., today.

The invaders have pre-meet ratings along the lines of Fordham. Like the Rams, Gettysburg boasts a top man from another country. This would be in the person of Akolekar Symkant, a brilliant 19 year old sophomore from India, who is a diver and breaststroker.

In addition the Bullets have a number of good swimmers returning from a team which finished with a 5-5 log last year, including a 52-34 decision over the Green and Gray. Coach Bill Klarner is well aware of their strength and knows they've got a good bench. "I know they've got depth," he states.

After three meets thus far, the Powley twins are running one-two in scoring, with Seeley leading the way at 20.75 and Peter notching 19.75. Not far behind are Freshman Marty Pilsch (19.50) and Junior Paul Karpers (18.25).

Pilsch also shows the way in the high average per meet category with 9.75, while Peter Powley has the high average per individual start (4.50).

Following tomorrow's meet, the team has five more meets scheduled, three conference opponents and two non-conference. Randolph-Macon (Home), American U: (Away) and Catholic U. (Home) are the three Mason-Dixon Conference foes while Georgetown (Home) and La Salle (Away) complete the schedule.

Joe O'Hara (25) hooks one for 2 pts. as Stretch Thomas, B. U. center defends.

Wrestling Team Returns; B.U. Is Foe Wednesday

After an absence of two years, the Hounds of Loyola are to return to intercollegiate wrestling with an eight meet schedule. The teams next encounter is with the strong team from the University of Baltimore in an away encounter on Wednesday, January the 13th at three o'clock.

The team is shaping up well and is built around the nucleus of Charley Carey, Charley Graham, Buck Parr, Mike Buchness, and Bill Iampieri, all being returnees from last years seven man informal team which competed in the Mason-Dixon tournament.

Coach Dick Clem is also looking for help from newcomers John Conners, Mike Gerrat, Tom Iampieri, and Bill Donallan. Aside from the above mentioned five, the team will entirely consist of beginners and it is around these boys that the team is being built.

Last year Phil Lohrey helped revive wrestling when he organized a team which had one dual meet and tied Western Maryland in it. This group also participated in the Mason-Dixon tournament and carried off two medals. It should certainly be a hustling team and one deserving of your support.

Hounds vs. Jays Here Tonight; Sho'men Next

The Loyola College basketball team will be well-occupied this week with three conference games within the space of five days. In the first of these three games the Hounds oppose Johns Hopkins University tonight (8:15 p.m.) at the Evergreen gymnasium.

The Green will be out to push their conference mark over .500, since their loss to Baltimore University in last Saturday's "tussle" evened their conference record at 2-2. The Blue Jays sport an overall record of 2-3 so far this year and will be out to even it against the host squad. They are led by Larry Becker who tallied 30 points in one of the meetings the quints had last year.

Tomorrow the Reitzmen journey to Chestertown, Maryland to engage Washington College (8:00) in what figures to be another top M-D conference game. The Sho'men have yet to lose a conference game beating Randolph-Macon and Gallaudet. They boast two top flight scorers in all-around Dick Callahan and Norm Phillips, who has been leading the team of late.

This Tuesday the Green and Grey host the Cardinals of Catholic University. Last year they finished fourth in the conference and, although they lost their top scorer Bob Talbot, they have a number of good men returning, including Gene Jasper, last year's second leading scorer. Game time is 8:15 p.m.

The Greyhounds will be counting on their top three scorers Mike Sneeringer, Joe O'hara and John Heagney

All-League Selections

The Intramural Football All-League Team was chosen by the captains of each football team and by the referees of the games. All selections were made under the supervision of Nap Doherty, Director of Intramurals at Loyola. Nap states: "The selections are the best all-around men we could have possibly chosen for the All-League Team. The selections for the Intramural Football All-League Team are as follows:
